

INTENSIVE COURSE IN DERMATO-COSMETIC SCIENCES

BRUSSELS
12 - 16 Sept 2011

Key questions to be tackled by the course

- How to realise daily skin care and how to deal with the delicate napkin zone ?
- How important is the barrier function of the skin ?
- What is "sensitive skin" ?
- What are the newest findings concerning skin aging ?
- How can one efficiently protect the skin from premature aging ?
- Efficacy testing of cosmetics is a part of the new RECAST regulation : what to expect and how to deal with it ?
- How effective are skin care products ? Can their efficacy be objectively evaluated by the use of non-invasive methods on humans? Are there new techniques available ?
- How important is dermal absorption for the safety of dermato-cosmetics ?
- How safe are dermato-cosmetics today ?
- Is the application of in vitro methods for safety testing of cosmetics possible today ? How can we test safety and efficacy of cosmetics without experimental animals?

Vrije Universiteit Brussel

Faculty of Medicine and Pharmacy

OBJECTIVES

This international course has been organized in 1992 and from 1995 on every year. Because of its overwhelming success it will be organized again this year. The course offers an intensive training programme, designed for those of graduate and postgraduate status, in the field of dermato-cosmetic sciences. Our aspiration is not only to provide up-to-date reliable scientific information of university standard regarding the preparation and production of chemically and toxicologically well defined products, but also of the close interaction between dermatologic or cosmetic products and the skin as a living organ. The course is aimed to form specialists for the cosmetic industry, the dermatologically oriented pharmaceutical industry and for professionals in research and development, scientists, marketeers and training people involved in dermato-cosmetics.

COURSE ADMINISTRATORS

André Barel

Doctor in Biochemistry, special licence in Cosmetology, professor emeritus in Chemistry and Biochemistry, Vrije Universiteit Brussel, active emeritus for the Department of General and Biological Chemistry.

Vera Rogiers

Doctor in Pharmaceutical Sciences. Master in Applied Toxicology, full-time professor at the Vrije Universiteit Brussel (VUB) in the faculty of Medicine and Pharmacy; head of department of Toxicology; lecturing the courses of toxicology, chemical quality and toxicity of cosmetics, and galenics (dermatological preparations) to pharmacy students; responsible for two research teams, one in experimental in vitro toxicology and one in dermato-cosmetology. Organizer of the course : "Safety Assessment of Cosmetics in the EU". At the European level, co-chair of the SCCS (Scientific Committee on Consumer Safety). Chairperson of ecopa (European Consensus Platform on 3R-Alternative Methods) from 2000-2009.

Research partner in several FP6 and FP7 EU projects (CarcinoGENOMICS, Liintop, ESNATS, DETECTIVE and HemiBio) and from 2008 - 2010 coordinator of the START-UP project. Member of the mirror group of epaa (The European Partnership for Alternative Approaches to Animal Testing). Member of ESAC (ECVAM Scientific Advisory Committee).

Diane Roseeuw

Aggregated PhD in Dermatology, professor in Dermatology at the Vrije Universiteit Brussel, head of the Department of Dermatology of the University Hospital of the Vrije Universiteit Brussel.

The realisation of the course is possible thanks to the support of S.A. Beiersdorf N.V., Belgium.
